NLP FOR SUCCESS: REPROGRAMMING YOUR MIND FOR AUTOMATIC SUCCESS

A Practical Workbook Based on the NLP Teachings of Fabián Tejada

WELCOME

Thank you for attending my keynote at NLP Metafest 2026. What you just experienced is only the beginning.

This workbook distills the core frameworks from my books ¿Qué es lo que realmente te impide tener éxito? PNL and PNL: Manual para Programar tu Mente — designed to help you apply the neuroscience and NLP principles we explored together, right now.

This is not a passive read. Fill it out. Answer the questions. Do the exercises. Your transformation starts the moment you take these concepts from theory into action.

"The only difference between where you are and where you want to be is the program running in your unconscious mind."

— Fabián Tejada

Let's grow together.

Why Your Brain Decides Whether You Succeed or Fail

Most people believe success comes from talent, luck, or hard work. The science says otherwise. Your results — in every area of life — are the direct output of your neurological programming.

THE KEY NEUROSCIENCE PRINCIPLES

Neuroplasticity — Your brain is not fixed. It can form new neural connections at any age. Old programs can be rewritten, and new success patterns can be installed.

Neurogenesis — Your brain can generate entirely new neurons, not just modify existing ones. You are never "too old" or "too set in your ways" to change.

Epigenetics — Your thoughts, emotions, and behaviors actually influence gene expression. You are not a prisoner of your genetics. Your choices activate or silence genes in real time.

Dopamine (The Currency of Motivation) — Dopamine is released not when you achieve a goal, but when you anticipate achieving it. This is why visualization and goal-setting are neurologically powerful — they literally prime your brain for action.

"Until you make the unconscious conscious, the subconscious will direct your life and you will call it fate."

— Carl G. Jung

The Conscious vs. Unconscious Mind

Think of an iceberg. What you see above the water — your conscious thoughts, decisions, and willpower — represents only 5% of your total mind.

The remaining 95% is your unconscious mind. This is where your:

- ▶ Deep-rooted beliefs and values live
- ▶ Emotional patterns and behavioral habits are stored
- ▶ Internal programs run on autopilot — driving your results
- ▶ Limiting decisions from the past shape your present reactions

NLP gives you direct access to that 95% — the part that actually runs your life.

REFLECTION: Your Current Programs

◆ If your unconscious mind has been running on autopilot until now, what results has it been producing that you do NOT want?

◆ What would change in your life if you reprogrammed those patterns?

The Real Blocks Between You and Your Success

In my years of training thousands of people across Latin America, the US, and Europe, I have found that virtually every person who is not achieving their desired results has one or more of these four root causes:

1. LIMITING BELIEFS

Unconscious convictions about what is or isn't possible for you. They filter reality to confirm themselves.

2. LIMITING DECISIONS

Decisions made in past emotional moments that became permanent rules. Often formed in childhood or during trauma.

3. INTERNAL CONFLICTS

When your conscious goals conflict with your unconscious programs, you feel stuck, scattered, or self-sabotaging.

4. MISALIGNED VALUES

When your hierarchy of values is not aligned with your goals, your unconscious will always prioritize the wrong thing.

"When you squeeze an orange, you get orange juice — not lemon juice. What comes out under pressure is always what you have programmed inside."

— Fabián Tejada

Common Limiting Beliefs That Block Success

- ▶ "I am not enough" — not smart enough, good enough, experienced enough.
- ▶ "Money is hard to make" or "Rich people are greedy."
- ▶ "I don't deserve success" — often rooted in early experiences.
- ▶ "Change is dangerous" — the unconscious mind prefers familiar pain over unfamiliar growth.
- ▶ "I've always been this way" — denying neuroplasticity before understanding it.

RAPID SELF-DIAGNOSIS

Rate each area of your life from 1 (very unsatisfied) to 10 (completely satisfied):

Career / Business: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

Finances / Wealth: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

Relationships: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

Health & Energy: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

Personal Growth: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

Purpose & Mission: ____ /10 What limiting belief holds this score down?

DEEP REFLECTION: Identifying Your Core Block

♦ Think of your most important goal right now. What is the voice inside your head saying that makes you doubt you can achieve it?

♦ When did you first start believing that story? What happened?

♦ What would it cost you — in 5 years — if you keep this belief running your life?

The NLP Success Formula: 5 Steps for Any Goal

NLP was born from modeling excellence — studying the world's most successful people across fields and mapping exactly what they did, thought, and believed. From that research emerged a universal cycle that underlies all great achievement:

1

DEFINE YOUR RESULT

Your unconscious mind is a precision-targeting system — but only when given a clear, specific command. Most people focus on what they DON'T want. Your unconscious cannot process negation. It needs a positive, specific, vivid target.

2

TAKE ACTION — NOW

Not tomorrow. Not when conditions are perfect. The unconscious mind interprets "tomorrow" as never. Immediate action — even one small step — sends a neurological signal that you are serious about your goal.

3

DEVELOP SENSORY ACUITY

The ability to notice — in real time — what is and is not working. Successful people don't wait for annual reviews. They read feedback in the moment and adjust instantly.

4

MAINTAIN FLEXIBLE BEHAVIOR

If what you are doing is not producing the results you want, do something different. The NLP presupposition: "If what you're doing isn't working, anything else is better."

5

ALIGN YOUR PSYCHOLOGY & PHYSIOLOGY

Success is not just a mental game. Your body state directly affects your mindset. How you breathe, stand, move — all of it sends signals to your brain that either reinforce confidence or undermine it.

"Success can always be replicated — because it follows a neurological pattern."
— Fabián Tejada

APPLY THE CYCLE: Your Goal in Action

◆ STEP 1 — Define Your Result: State your most important goal in one clear, positive, specific sentence. (What do you want — not what you want to avoid.)

◆ STEP 2 — Immediate Action: What is ONE action you can take in the next 24 hours toward this goal?

◆ STEP 5 — Psychology Alignment: What internal state (confidence, courage, certainty, calm) do you need to embody to achieve this goal? How would that version of you carry themselves?

Setting Goals That Your Brain Actually Pursues

Most goal-setting fails not because people lack ambition, but because goals are set consciously without engaging the unconscious. NLP's Well-Formed Outcome framework ensures your goal speaks the language of the unconscious mind.

 THE NLP WELL-FORMED OUTCOME CHECKLIST

✓ Stated in the POSITIVE: "I want more energy" — not "I don't want to be tired." The unconscious mind cannot process negatives.

✓ SPECIFIC & SENSORY-BASED: What will you see, hear, and feel when you achieve it? Your brain needs a concrete target.

✓ SELF-INITIATED & SELF-MAINTAINED: The goal must be in YOUR control. Goals that depend entirely on others' behavior rarely activate unconscious drive.

✓ ECOLOGICAL: Does achieving this goal align with your values and relationships? Internal conflict sabotages goals.

✓ EVIDENCE PROCEDURE: How will you KNOW when you've achieved it? Define the specific evidence before you start.

✓ RESOURCES IDENTIFIED: What internal resources (courage, discipline, focus) and external resources do you need? Most people already have more than they think.

BUILD YOUR GOAL — Write it with Precision

What exactly do I want?
By when?
How will I know I've achieved it?
Is it in my control?	YES / NO → If no, reframe it:
Internal resources I already have:
Internal resources I need to develop:
Is it ecological (aligned with my values)?	YES / NO → What adjustment do I need?

The NLP Presuppositions That Change Everything

NLP's presuppositions are not just theories — they are practical operating principles adopted by the most successful people in the world. Internalize them, and your reality begins to shift.

The Map Is Not the Territory

Your perception of reality is not reality itself. Two people can experience the same event and draw completely different conclusions. This means your current beliefs about yourself and the world are not facts — they are maps. And maps can be updated.

Every Behavior Has a Positive Intention

Even self-sabotage is your unconscious trying to protect you. Understanding the positive intention behind a negative pattern is the first step to changing it without resistance.

There Is No Failure — Only Feedback

Every result that is not what you wanted is data. Successful people process failure as information; unsuccessful people process it as identity.

People Have All the Resources They Need

You already have the internal resources you need to succeed. What may be missing is access — and NLP provides the tools to unlock them.

The Person With the Most Flexibility Controls the System

In any environment — a negotiation, a relationship, a business challenge — the person who can adapt their approach most quickly will navigate it most successfully.

Mind and Body Are Part of the Same System

Your emotional state is not just in your head. How you breathe, hold your posture, and move your body directly changes your neurochemistry and therefore your performance.

REFLECTION: Apply a Presupposition

♦ Choose the presupposition that challenges you most. Why does it challenge you — and what would change if you fully adopted it?

Your First 7 Days of Reprogramming

Neurological change is not a single event — it is a practice. Here is a daily structure to begin installing new patterns immediately.

DAY	MORNING PRACTICE (10 min)	EVENING REFLECTION (5 min)
Day 1	Write your #1 goal in full NLP well-formed format. Read it aloud 3 times.	What limiting belief showed up today? Write it down without judgment.
Day 2	Identify ONE limiting belief about your goal. Write the opposite empowering belief.	What evidence from today could support the new belief?
Day 3	Visualize achieving your goal for 5 minutes — feel it as already real.	What immediate action did you take today, however small?
Day 4	Audit your internal self-talk. Every time you hear a limiting voice, say: "Thank you — and here's the truth:" + empowering replacement.	What positive feedback (result) did you notice today?
Day 5	Write 10 resources (internal strengths) you already have that will help you achieve your goal.	Which resource did you use today, even unconsciously?
Day 6	Identify a value that might conflict with your goal. Design a way to honor both.	What would the future version of you — who already has this goal — do differently tomorrow?
Day 7	Review your week. What changed in your thinking, feeling, or behavior?	Write a letter to your unconscious mind — acknowledging the work done and setting the intention for the next 30 days.

Ready to Go Deeper?

This workbook is a starting point — a taste of what becomes possible when you apply NLP with precision and depth. The true transformation happens in a live training environment, where the technology is applied directly to your nervous system.
